DEDICATION

To the town of East Windsor, we—the Senior Class of East Windsor High School—owe our appreciation and most cherished memories. The guidance of our own neighbors and the comfort of home have greatly influenced our personal and spiritual development. Because of the understanding and sense of belonging which we have always found in our town, we know that in future years we will always be drawn to the place we can sincerely call "home." As an attempt to show our appreciation, we grant to the town on its 200th anniversary and to the people of East Windsor our highest honor—the dedication of our yearbook.

Fitch's Steam Boat.

East Windsor

. . . yesterday and today

Originally a part of the town of Windsor, settlement of East Windsor did not begin until about 1680. Fear of Indian attack appears to have kept the settlement on the west side of the River until after the death of King Philip in 1676.

Until 1695 the settlers of East Windsor attended public worship in Windsor itself, getting there in river boats. Then an ecclesiastical society was formed in East Windsor and Mr. Timothy Edwards was ordained their minister. On October 5, 1703 his son, Johnathan Edwards, who became a celebrated divine was born in East Windsor.

East Windsor was incorporated as a separate town in 1768.

In 1834 the Theological Institute of Connecticut was established in East Windsor. It was in a brick building, four stories high which contained a chapel, reading room, recitation room, library and accommodations for fifty-two students. No tuition or other charge was levied on the students.

John Fitch was another native of East Windsor, born in the south part of town on what was called the "old road." To him goes the honor of having constructed the first American steam boat. He obtained a patent for it in 1788. The boat he built in 1787 traveled at the rate of 8 miles an hour and it went 80 miles in one day.

Lack of financing doomed Mr. Fitch's project and many who heard him expound his theories of steam propulsion, considered him mentally unbalanced. His frustration and poverty finally caused him to end his life by plunging into the Alleghany River at Pittsburgh.

The illustration above shows Mr. Fitch's boat as originally planned. In the one actually constructed he modified this plan and placed the paddles in the stern of the boat.

For over 200 years The Courant has been a tradition in many East Windsor homes. It is read there every morning by more than 940 families, and The Sunday Courant is delivered to well over 1,260 homes.

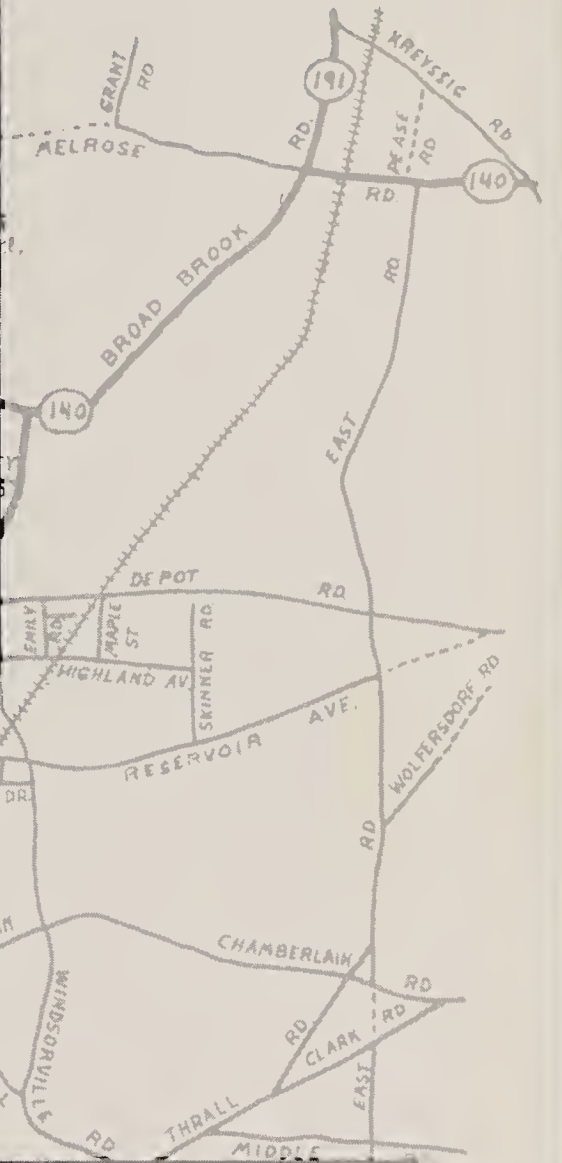

Today East Windsor has 2,081 homes and a population of 8,500. The township includes a number of communities. These are: Windsorville, Melrose, Broad Brook and Warehouse Point.

The Trolley Museum, located in Warehouse Point, dedicated to the preservation of electric street railway equipment is a nostalgic reminder of the past. Also well known to dog fanciers is the Pelton Pasture Field Trial Area, a state owned preserve.

The major industries of the town are agriculture and the manufacture of propellers and fertilizers.

East Windsor High School

East Windsor High School is an accredited member of the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, having been admitted to membership in 1959. The school has also met the evaluation requirements of the Commission on Public Secondary Schools.

The NEACSS accredits schools and colleges in the six New England states. Membership indicates that the school has been carefully evaluated and found to meet standards agreed upon by qualified educators. Colleges support the efforts of public school and community officials to have their secondary school meet the standards of membership.

Lois,
 a real nice person who I hope
 makes it a long way.
 I hope in your search for a nice figure: Keep it cool any way you can, and leave that bottle along. Or else
 I'll join you in finishing it.
 Love,
 Jimmy

So a real great pic we have all summer forget, it's been a great friendship and I hope it never end. See you next year when we are mighty mighty Seniors. Friends always
